Washington University in St. Louis School of Law

Dear School of Law Graduate:

We are pleased to present you with the Washington University School of Law Alumni Directory 2002. The directory contains current information on the majority of our 7,000 alumni, including address listings, class year listings, geographical listings, and areas of specialty listings.

School of Law alumni reside in all 50 states and nearly 30 foreign countries. Our graduates pursue a wide variety of career paths; they are judges, academics, entrepreneurs, prosecutors, sole practitioners, legal aid lawyers, and members of large firms.

The advice and support from our diverse alumni have been instrumental to our progress and have led to enhanced visibility and reputation, superior faculty, outstanding students, and a state-of-the-art facility. In recent years, our School has created important new programs in such areas as interdisciplinary, international, clinical, and ethics training. Continued alumni advice and support will help us build on our existing strengths and assist us in accelerating our progress among the nation's leading law schools.

This is an exciting time in the School's history. We hope you will use this directory to keep up with classmates and also to network among other alumni. If you need local counsel or special expertise, you may find a fellow graduate who meets your requirements.

We are proud of your achievements and grateful for the foundations you established here.

Sincerely,

Jul so, ama

Joel Seligman Dean and Ethan A.H. Shepley University Professor

ALUMNI ONLINE SERVICES

Online services for alumni are a great way to stay in touch with one another and with Washington University. After entering the password-protected Alumni Directory, you and other alumni can locate classmates and other friends; sign up for Alumni E-mail Forwarding; and participate in Career Connections, a Web-based system linking students and alumni from all schools together in an effort to further their career preparation.

The online Alumni Directory includes current information on nearly 103,000 alumni from all schools and divisions of the University. It allows you to search for classmates based on name, geographic location, degree, and class year. You can also update your listing through the directory so that your classmates will know what you are doing and how to reach you every time you move or change employment. It also allows you to continue to receive various publications and invitations to School of Law and University events.

As part of the directory, Alumni E-mail Forwarding is available so that you can establish a Washington University e-mail address. This service will allow your friends to continue to contact you even when you change your Internet service provider. However, since this is an e-mail forwarding service, you will still need to have your own Internet service provider and an e-mail account at which to receive the e-mail messages forwarded to you through your University e-mail account. The advantage: When you change your Internet provider, you save time by simply providing Washington University with your new information rather than individually notifying your entire list of family, friends, and business associates.

Career Connections, coordinated by the Washington University Career Center, allows alumni and students to search a database of registered Washington University alumni, parents, and others willing to share information about their careers and experiences.

To take advantage of one or all these online services, simply go to www.ulumni.wustl.edu.

Don't forget to keep informed about the latest law school happenings by visiting our Web site at law.wustl.edu.

Comments regarding the online services for alumni may be sent via e-mail to alumni relations@aismail.wustl.edu.
